

European real estate – Supporting Korean investors

Korean investment into European real estate continues to be a key feature of the market, with many significant deals completed by Korean investors remaining active and ongoing. Ogier's international legal and corporate administration teams have played a central role in facilitating a substantial proportion of these transactions, setting themselves apart as the go-to offshore professional services firm for Korean investors. With this depth of experience comes a comprehensive understanding of Korean investors' structuring requirements and the standards they expect from their appointed European advisers.
